ISOA Code of Conduct (Version 13.1)

The International Stability Operations Association (ISOA) is a trade association of the stability operations industry, which includes private military and security companies. The ISOA's aim is to promote high operational and ethical standards of private sector operations in conflict and post-conflict environments. Therefore the "ISOA Code of Conduct seeks to establish consistent ethical standards for members of International Stability Operations Association operating in complex environments so that they may contribute their valuable services for the benefit of international peace and human security."
